BRUSH CREEK IS READY RESUME MILLING WORK

The three month's stoppage of milling operations at the Brush Creek mine has given opporunity to greatly increase the facilities at this property and make possible the crushing a much larger tonnage of ore. The work of installing new equipment has been practically completed and with the coming of the winter rains operations will be resumed full blast.

A new compressor plant has been added which will make possible the running of at least 8 machine drills The former compressor had a capacity of but 100 cubic feet and with the new one adding 600 cubic feet, will greatly increase the efficiency of the underground operations. The company has taken out the old transformer bank and put in larger new ones to handle the increased load and has strung new copper wire on the power line to the property. A pan grinder and concentrating plant are being added to the mill. The Bruh Creek can now boast one of the finest mining plants in the district and with estimated ore reserves to keep the mill supplied for at least a year ahead, the Brush Creek management can look forward to profitable operations. The mill will now have a capacity of 35 to 40 tons daily.

The company has kept its development well ahead of its milling operations, one thing many companies fail to do with the result that sooner or later they are forced to suspend operations. Plans are being made for sinking the shaft from the present 800 level another 100 feet There is a great deal of ore blocked out on the 800 level at the present time but by carrying on its development well ahead of present needs will assure continuous operations.

Winter supplies sufficient to carry the plant crew until spring have been taken in to the property the past week. Ben F. Ballard of Santa Rosa, president of the Kate Hardy company operating the property, has been up at the property for the past few days inspecting the final touches on the new equipment installed. He expresses himself as highly pleased at the outlook.

PRODUCTION RUBY MINE EXPECTED BE STARTING

Following a previous announcement in these columns of the reopening of the famous Ruby mine in Sierra county, the Anglo-Pacific Mines, Limited, announces that it has taken over the property which includes 435 acres of patented ground and has a past production record of $2,000,000.00 Ted E. Richards of Grass Valley is president of the new enterprie and Chas A. Brocklington, long a familiar figure in Grass Valley mining circles is secretary. With the power hookup being completed from the Alleghany-Downiville tranmission line production from the gravel channels is to get under way early this week and should soon place the Ruby again as one of Sierra county's leading producers.

The vein system of Alleghany in which are located the Tightner, Red Star, Sixteen-to-One, and numerous others, enters the Ruby on the south, and in operating the Ruby mine some very rich ore was found, but in 1880 gravel miners paid no attention to quartz. The quartz will be mined by the Anglo Pacific as a pay shoot has already been located.

On the same contact that goes through grousd, on the north, lie the City of Sir, Dolan, and others. The City of Six is now operating through a tunnel 2400 feet in length, that gives them 800 feet of vertical backs.

It is the plan to work both quartz and gravel. At present gravel is being mined. Nuggets ranging from $10.00 to $600.00 are often found in the gravel channel.

A 10X12 Sullivan compressor has been installed, and electric power from the new P. G. & E. Alleghany-Downieville line, has been installed at an approximate cost of $1,600.00

Henry Hogeli is superintendent at the mine and H. C. Binns is foreman

ANDREW JAMES PASSES

Andrew James, well known local resident, passed away at his Lost Hill reidence late yesterday afternoon after a week' illness with pneumonia. He was well known and had been employed in the Grass Valley mines. He was also widely known for his musical ability.

The remains were taken in rharge by th eHolmes Fueral Home. Funeral arrangements have not been announced by the family.

NEW MEMBERS IN ASSOCIATION GIVE STRENGTH

Six new members enrolled the past week in the local chapter of the Mining Association of California is bringing the new organization prominently to the front in the minds of the people of this section. The interest being taken by the business men of Nevada City is especially welcome to the chapter which is seeking a large membership during the next few months and helping to put over the state program in convincing fashion.

Next year is election year with the state association in full swing will be able to learn as to whether the various nominees are going to show interest in our mining needs or not. Heretofore with no organization we were lucky to find any friends in either the assembly or senate and prior to the selection of Jerrold L. Seawell we had but little help in the assembly in a mining way in this district. Jerry had a hard fight in behalf of mining with no organization behind him but in the coming legislature we look to see a different angle in legislation affecting the future of mining particularly in the matter of compensation insurance and taxation among the legislators generally.

The Hoge Development company and the American Foundation Company are to be highly commended for the great interest they have taken in helping the new chapter get off to a flying start in its quest for members. In addition to a pany membership. Mr. Hoge as president, Otto E. Schiffner as general manager and William Genasci as foreman all carry paid up memberhips. The American Foundation Company carries a company membership and O. A. McCraney as resident manager and M. C. C. Von Loben Sels as president carry individual memberships. Such spirit as this helps mightily to win.

The new chapter now numbers sixty members and looks to pass the hundred mark in a few weeks as the membership committees are appointed and get to work. A number of the members have come to The Nugget office to get application cards to hand out.

SIERRA CHAPTER WAS ORGANIZED THE PAST WEEK

Sierra county evidently intends to run her own chapter of the Mining Association of California and not cooperate with the plans instituted by the state officials at Sacramento in which Sierra would be in a unit with Nevada, Placer, Yuba counties in a single chapter with a large membership. At a meeting held in County Surveyor Taylor's office in Downieville on Tuesday, a temporary organization was effected with W. L. Carter as chairman and Ross F. Taylor as secretary.

Robert L. Hanley of La Porte, was the principal speaker on that occasion and outlined the needs of the mining industry for organization and cited the extremely high cost of compensation insurance in California as compared with other states, which is largely due to lack of aggressiveness on the part of the mining men themselves. He stated that the mining industry, both metals and non-metallics, must have the support of the individuals in the industry and that any one having any interest whatever in the business can become a member on the nominal dues of $5.00 per year, covering both the dues in the local chapter and in the state association.

The meeting adjourned to meet at the call of the chair. The plan of the state officials to hold a meeting at Downieville on next Saturday for the purpose of organizing the county as a part of the four county organization is being held in abeyance until it can be determined as to whether Sierra county is going to go it alone or cooperate with the previous plan instituted at Sacramento some time since. Under that plan each county would have its vice chairman. Every assistance will be given the new organization whether it elects to operate independently of the local chapter or as part of it, however, as the industry needs every bit of cooperation it can get and Sierra county can play an important part is the state program as the mining industry gets on its feet once more.

The Sacramento Bee in a special article Saturday night from Downieville decried the idea of combining with Nevada county in the formation of a four county unit of the state association and gave the names of some seven or eight who attended the preliminary meeting.

TREDIDGO PRAISES THE NUGGET MINING NEWS

D. A. Tredidgo sends in the following unsolicited letter to The Nugget which is indicative of what the people in the mining profession and those having business relations with the industry think of this paper's work in its behalf:

"Enclosed please fisd our check for $2.00 for one year's subscription in advance to your paper. Our firm is engaged in selling mining equipment throughout the West and the writer is of the belief that your papr has more real mining news in it than any other publication which we subscribe to".

Mr. Tredidgo who is well known throughout this county, is manager of Mine & Industrial Equipment Company of San Francisco with offices in the Hobart Building which does a large business throughout the West in new and used machinery.

BRUSH FIRE ALARM

Three fire trucks careening madly down the street with the usual accompaniment of numerous speclestaters, wound up in the Prospect Hill section Saturday inswer to an alarm only to find that about a square yard of dry brush had been consumed and that was already out.

OTT ASSAYS THE FIRST GOLDS FOUND FROM AIR

Nevada City acquired another historical mile post the past week when Emil J. N. Ott had the privilege of assaying the first quartz discovered from the air. Airplanes have been used for about every other kind of discovery work but it remained for Arthur J. Angeli and D. Reed of the Mutual Aircraft Corporation to use it spotting mineral deposits

While flying over Camptonville in quest of quartz outcroppings, they located a likely looker near Oregon creek and returning to town they drove to the spot in a ground ship, broke off samples and brought them to Mr. Ott to use his eagle eye and assay apparatus upon.

Angeli and Reed had been directed to The Nugget office as the likely place to secure mining information on this section and this was the first port of call on their adventure tour.

As a matter of interest, the late J. J. Ott, father of Emil, had the privilege of assaying the first ore from the famous Comstock lode of Nevada so on the new venture, the son pulls a little of the historical also.

KING SUIT SUBMITTED TUTTLE ON SHOWING

The new suit instituted by Promoter Roy J. King aaginst the Grass Valley Gold Mine Company through a San Francisco attorney was argued in superior court Friday before Judge Raglan Tuttle and decision reserved by his honor. The demurrer entered by the defendants was presented and counsel for plaintiff was informed that on two or three counts on a similar action brought in court, the case had been thrown out of court and it was ruled that King was only entitled to wages. The attorney is understood to have been ignorant of the previous case and its ending.

King is suing to get hold of a bunch of the stock, alleging that his services were valuable in financing the company's operations. It is alleged that the company dipensed with his services some six years ago. The litigation in connection with the company's affairs is holding up the development of the property by Los Angeles interests.

Th case will again come on for hearing on December 6th.

MOHAWK SHAFT REACHES DEPTH WITH NEW PUMP

Sinking of the shaft at the Yakima Mohawk property south of town is rapidly nearing its 200 foot objective. The shaft contractors had reached a depth of 135 feet Saturday with excellent formation being encountered.

Owing to the flow of ground water seeping into the shaft an electric pump was installed to supplement the ejector system and the water has ceased giving any trouble. The bottom of the shaft is in practically dry formation at the present time.

At the 200 level it is proposed to cut a station and crosscut east and west to intersect the north and south ledges known to exist on the property. Outside of one shaft run several hundred feet deep in early days, the holdings of the Yakima Mohawk interests which cover 130 acres in the Gold Flat section are practically virgin ground below water level with a number of valuable ledges.

John Sawbridge, presdient of the company is expected here this week from Washington on a trip of inspection to both the Mohawk and Standard properties, the latter in Plumas county.

Ben A. Bost is superintending the operations at the local property.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE HAS MONTHLY MEETING

Owing to lack of receipt from the government officials of the report on the local airport situation, that item of discussion was missing at ye monthly meeting of the Chamber of Commerce last week. The resolution sponsored by the Nevada County Promotion Board endorsing the plan of the Southern Pacific to route motor tours through this section next summer, to mark historical spots and to promote winter sports; was adopted. The meeting opposed the Senator Oddie plan to limit federal highway aid to the more important highways.

The following is the full text of theresolution as passed by the Chamber:

WHERAS, Senator Oddie of Nevada has presented Bill No. 121, in the United States Senate to amend "An act to provide that United States shall aid States in the construction of roads and for other purposes."

WHEREAS, in Section 2 of the Bill there is a clause reading "Provided, That in the Expenditure of funds authorized under this paragraph, the Secretary of Agriculture shall give prefereince to those projects which are located on Federal aid highway system, as the same are now or may hereafter be designated."

WHEREAS, The effect of these provisos is that Forest-aid projects in which local communities cooperate whill be practically barred from receiving Federal aid.

WHEREAS, These provsios defeat the very purpose of the Aca for giving Federal Aid to Forest Highway projects not is the big major State systems.

WHERAS, The proposed act would work as a detriment to all counties with National Forests in this state, in the building of many roads within said counties.

Resolved, that the Nevada City Chamber of Commerce is opposed to the passage of the proposed Oddie Bill as detrimental to our interests and we urgently request the aid of our Represestatives to prevent the passag of said bill.

Copies of the repolution have been sent to the California delegation in Washington.

THE NUGGET IS THREE YEARS OLD

LAST WEEK saw the completion of three years of work in this community by The Nugget. To the loyal business men who started out with the paper in the belief that it would justify their faith, and those who have since addad their business in generous measure, is due the credit for Nevada City having her own newspaper today. Such business men spell success for any community.

The following business firms and individuals have not missed a single issue of the paper:

Bank of America of California
Alpha Hardware and Supply Company
Keystone Market
J. J. Jackson
Dickermans
John W. Darke
Nevada City Cleaners

The following have come in since the first issue and have not missed an issue: R. E. Harris, Nevada City Assay Office, National Coffee Shop, Nevada City Sanitarium, Eddy Leong, Clarence R. Gray, Rose Lee Beauty Shop, Dr. R. F. Werner, Nilon, Hennessy and Kelly, W. E. Wright, E. C. Uren, Chain Groceteria, Nevada County Building and Loan Association W. R. Jefford and Son, Ace Tire Shop, Freeman Bakery, G. H. Shirkey, Ward A. Johnson, Hotel Turpin, Grass Valey Cleaners, H. W. Hartung and Son, Grass Valley Assay Office, Dr. John R. Bell and Rosetta Buzza Johns.

Among the fraternal orders, Nevada Lodge, F. and A. M. Milo Lodge, Knights of Pythias and Nevada City Lodge of Elks are represented in its advertising columns and giving support to the home town paper.

The Bank of America of California has been most generous with its advertising in this paper, feeling that a paper was needed in Nevada City, and has never carried less than a quarter page space in every issue. The bank's officers are keenly alive to the fact that a community needs its own medium of expression if the community is to progress and prosper, and they have not been backward at any time in their support of home town institutions. More power to them.

The job department operated by this paper has been serving a growing clientele with neatly printed work popularly priced and to date approximately 700 different jobs of printing have been prouced for local and outside firms. A complete record is kept on every job produced in this shop and it is possible to duplicate any piece of work. Last year a large press with the latest variable speed equipment was added to handle the fast growing job department and it has been kept busy on work of a satisfying character. Local business firms do not have to send their work outside to be done, and not many of them do. New type faces are being regularly added and with a large stock of bond papers, cardboards, envelopes and cut cards always on hand, it is possible to turn out work in an expeditious manner.

The publishers promises their best efforts in behalf of the home community during the coming year, particularly with regard to furthering the mining possibilities of this section to the investing world to the end that prosperity may once more settle permanently within our borders after many years of ups and downs. With the generous support of the business firms of the community with their advertising and their printing, will strengthen our endeavors in large measure.

America's Great Debt to Alexander Hamilton

Without any question it was Alexander Hamilton who laid the foundations for the material prosperity of the United States.

He was the founder of our whole financial system. As our first secretary of the treasury in President Washington's cabinet, Hamilton devised the governmental funding system, the internal revenue bureau, the sinking fund, the national bank, the federal mint and currency system.

He was the father of the protective tariff and was the first to propose and vigorously defend the doctrine of the "implied powers of the Constitution."

He was first to advocate internal improvements and the building of roads and bridges.

Talleyrand, one of his old friends, passing Hamilton's window very late one night, wrote:

"I have seen a man who made the fortune of a nation and labored all night to support his own family."

After his death his private affairs were found to be in a terribly tangled condition and it was only through a special act of congress that his widow was supplied with funds.—Thrift Magazine.

Scientists Not Agreed as to Color of Moon

The moon is not white, it is brown; Mars is not red, it a green! These are the latest suggestions of astronomers. A committee of the Carnegie institution, in Washington, reports that the apparent silvery whiteness of moonlight is due to contrast with the darkened sky. The actual color of the moon, they believe, is the dull brown of weathered rocks. This suggests that the surface of the satellite may have been weathered by oxidation at some previous time, although the moon is known to have no atmosphere now.

Mars, according to E. J. Gounod of the Amateur Astronomers' association, may be covered with green vegetation like the earth. The reason it appears red, he says, is that the light rays have to pass through the atmosphere of both Mars and the earth before they reach our eyes. These atmospheres filter out the blue and green rays but allow the red rays to pass. The three reasons most often given for the red color of Mars, says Popular Science Monthly, are that the planet is "rusty" with iron rust, that its soil and rocks are red or that it is red vegetation.

Dogfish Too Playful

A young Florentine who had rowed his patino (a raft boat used on the Tuscan coast by bathers) about half a mile out to sea, near Viareggio, says the Rome correspondent of the London Sunday Observer, caught sight of a huge fish coming toward him, which he mistook for a dolphin and light heartedly proceeded to kill with his oar.

The animal turned out to be a "smeriglio," a kind of dogfish, some 20 to 25 feet long. It drove its teeth with such force into the end of the patino that it could only free itself by leaving several of its teeth behind. During this struggle the boat was overturned, but the bather was a good swimmer and managed to gain possession of it, and had still enough strength to make vigorous signs of distress to neighboring boats, which came to his rescue, and had the strange and fortunate result of frightening away the giant fish.

Mangian Love Letters Inscribed on Bamboo

Perhaps the queerest type of love letter know in the world is that in vogue among the Mangians of the hill lands and mountains of Mindoro, P. I., who still hold to the ancient alphabet of about three vowels and ten consonants which they group into words inscribed on bamboo in a single vertical column, their bolos serving them as a stylus. They are an extremely simple and timid people and their more aggressive Malayan neighbors have made them hunt cover in the highlands and the primeval forests. For business, aside from the very important business of making love, they hardly need writing at all; and surely no bamboo ledgers to record their wealth. But love makes as ardent demands upon them as upon other folk, and their swains fallen victim to Cupid whip out their bolos, slash down a good-sized bamboo, and go to verse writing with intense gusto. So that a love missive may be strung along the length of a 45-foot pole, and the one end trailing in the forest path as the poet indites a warm postscript on the other. Popular damsels soon have enough finely etched poles to build a hut—to burn such telltale documents would be to light a fire endangering the forest. Specimens of the love letter poles have been acquired by scientists and translated, and the astounding truth discovered that a Mangian in love is an inordinate liar!

Cold Not Only Thing Hoarded by the Miser

No one loves a miser. He does not consider money as a medium of exchange, as a counter in a game, but as an end in itself. He delights to hoard it, hold it, gloat over it, but never does he delight to spend. So have I observed men to hoard their virtues, count them, finger them, exult over them, yet none escape to serve a needy world. By this it does appear men may be misers in other things than gold.

One of the most subtle of all temptations is the tendency to become miserly and covetous of some prized possession. It may be physical strength, it may be beauty, it may be intellectual power or accomplishment. We are so apt to make the possession of these things an end in itself and to forget the more important fact that they have been given to us for a purpose.—Exchange.

Sharing Troubles

Some one has said that "when you tell a friend your troubles and he tells you his, you both have twice as many troubles as you had before." But it is not true. One of the quickest ways to get rid of troubles, or at any rate to ameliorate them, is to pour them into a sympathetic ear, and to listen, in turn, to what the other man has suffered. This is one case in which twice one is not two. The two sets of cares and worries are diminished, rather than increased, when they are combined.—Toronto Star.

HISTORY OF GOLD MINING RELATED SCOTT TURNER

During the first half of the nineteenth century nearly three times as much gold was produced in the fifth decade as in the first; yet the production of the first decade of the next half century was almost four times that of the preceding decade and nearly twice that of the first half of the nineteenth century. A gradual decline is noted this half century up to the last decade, which showed an increase of 94 per cent over the preceding decade. During the last half of the nineteenth century nine times as much gold was produced as during the first half. During the first decade of the twentieth century the average annual production increased over 8,000,000 ounces, or 81 per cent, over the preceding decade's production. The second decade showed an increase in average annual production if over 2,000,000 ounces, or 12 per cent, more than during the first decade.

In the world production of gold from 1493 to 1927, North America was the largest producing continent, contributing 281,056,639 ounces, or 28 per cent, with Africa a close second, contributing 270,127,146 ounces, or 27 per cent of the world total. Australia produced nearly 169,000,000 ounces, or 17 per cent; South America nearly 125,000,000 ounces, or 12 per cent; Asia 112,000,000 ounces, or 11 per cent; and Europe nearly 44,000,000 iunces, or 4 per cent.

During the first half of the nineteenth century Russia was the largest contributor, with 28 per cent; the United States ranked second, with 16 per cent; Colombia third, with 15 per cent; and Brazil fourth with 11 per cent.

In the second half of the nineteenth century the United States and Australia assumed the lead, with 33 and 27 per cent, respectively. In fact, during the 25 years 1850 to 1875, inclusive, these two priduced almost as much gild as had been produced in the entire world from 1493 to 1800.

During the first quarter of the twentieth century the Union of South Africa (Transvaal) produced 37 per cent of the world iutput, replacing the United States as the leading world producer. Notwithstanding the fact that the average annual production had increased 50 per cent, the share of the United States in world production declined to 20 per cent. Australia produced 11 per cent, Russia 5 per cent, Canada and Mexico 4 per cent each, and Rhodesia 3 per cent. In 1927 the seven leading producers were the Union of South Africa (32 per cent), the United States ((11 per cent), Canada (10 per cent), Russia (5 per cent), Mexico (4 per cent), Rhodesia (3 per cent), and Australia (3 per cent).

The date of the first discovery if gold in the territory which now cimprises the United States is not known, but the existence of gold in the Southern Appalachain States was discivered by the Spaniards in the early part of the sixteenth century. A small production from North and South Carolina antedates the Revolutionary War. Gold was found in Virginia as early as 1782, but until 1829 production was insignificant. In 1829 gold was discovered in Georgia, which soon became one of the leading producers of the country.

The production of gold in the United States before 1849 was insignificant, as the total production up to that time was less than 1,200,000 ounces. In the decade 1831 to 1840 the average annual production was only 31,800 ounces 5 per cent of the world total. Immediately after the discivery of gold in California in 1848 production increased so rapidly that in 1849 the United States became the leading world producer. By 1853 the production had exceeded 3,144,000 ounces. In six years production had been multiplied 73 times. During the perlid 1851 to 1855 the United States produced nearly 45 per cent of the world tital. At this time the production of the Western States completely dwarfed the output of the Appalachain district, whose productiin since 1848 has been relatively unimportant.

From 1853 on production declined steadily until 1862, due to the Civil War and the exhaustion of the known, easily worked, richer placer deposits in the West. The priduction of Australiau surpassed that of the United States from 1855 to 1863. The increase noted up to 1866 was due largely to discoveries in Nevada and Montana, but following this there was a recession to 1,619,000 ounces in 1875. At about this time the production of the Comstock lode was rapidly increasing and contributed a large part of the increase in United States production from 1873 to 1878. Thereafter, productios again declined to 1,451,000 ounces in 1883, the lowest since 1848. During the 5-year period 1881 to 1885 the United States produced 31 per cent of the world's gold supply.

From 1892 to 1900 there was a remarkable increase in production which almost equaled the rise occasioned by the discovery of gold in California in 1848. During this period yearly production increased 140 per cent; it amounted to 3,830 000 ounces in 1900, due largely to the discovery of the famous Cripple Creek deposits of Colorado and the introduction of the cyanide process. Notwithstanding this rapid increase the production of Transvaal surpassed that of the United States in 1898 and 1899, but fell below it again in 1900 to 1904 as a result of the Boer War.

There was a general but somewhat irregular increase in production in the United States from 1900 to 1915, as the deposits of Alaska, Goldfield, and Tonopah were developed. The peak production of the United States was made in 1915, when 4,823,762 ounces of gold was produced; but maximum 5-year period production was from 1906 to 1910, when yearly production averaged nearly 4,600,000 ounces—22 per cent if the world total.

As a result of inflation during and immediately after the World War resulting in a decline in the relative value of gold, production dropped 50 per cent for the period 1915 to 1920. Since 1920 there has been a tendency to further decreases in production, although it is not as marked as in the preceding period. From 1921 to 1925 the average annual output was 2,369,000 ounces, 14 per cent of the world total, as compared with an average of 4,557,000 ounces of in the period 1911 to 1915. The 1927 output was 2,117,000 ounces, 11 per cent of the world total.

Since 1905 the United States has been the second largest producer of gold in the world, but if present trends continue the production of Canada may soon surpas that of the United States. In 1927 the output of Transvaal, the largest contributer, was nearly five time as much as the United States, while Canada's production was about 85 per cent of the United States output.

The principal districts from which gold is now produced in the United States are the Whitewood district, South Dakota; the Marysville, Oroville, Folsom, Grass Valley, Nevada City and Jackson districts, California; the Cripple Creek, Eureka, San Miguel, and California districts, Colorado; the West Mountain (Bingham Canyon), Tintic, asd Park City districts, Utah; the Verde, Warren, and Ajo districts, Arizona; the Robinson, Jarbridge, Tonopah, and Comstock districts, Nevada; the Southeastern district, Seward Peninsula, and Yukon Basin, Alaska; and the Summit Valley (Butte), Montana.

A great vilume of statistical information regarding the world production of gold since 1492 is contained in Economic Paper 6, by Robert H. Ridgway and the staff if the Common Metals Division of the United States Bureau of Mises, which may be obtaised from the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C., at a price of 20 cents.

ANOTHER VERSION OF HILL FATAL ACCIDENT

One of our good friends from Alleghany thisks The Nugget was mistaken in its version of the recent fatality at the 16 to 1 mine there in which Hill was killed and Tom Young badly injured.

This pape r was of the opinion that Hill had drilled into a missed hole. It has been noted that Hill had been drilling on the opposite side from where the unfired hole was and from the position in which he was found the theory has been advanced that Hill having found the missed hole, had stopped his machine and had been trying to pull out the primers and clean out the hole when the charge went off. It could not have been a delayed charge as the round of shots had been fired 21 hours and 45 minutes previous when the previous shift had come off duty at 6 o'clock the previous morning

Statement From Young

"My name is Thos. Young and my address is Jones Hospital, Gras Valley California.

"I was working in the 16 to 1 Mine with H. Hill on November 6, 1929, at 4 a. m. I was shoveling. Hill had been drillisg. He came to a missed hole and used an iron picker which he had to pick out the charge of powder. He struck the cap and it exploded. Rocks were thrown by the explosion and struck him killing him instantly. I was injured on the head and shoulders.

"I have read the above and it is true asd correct".

Signed: Thos. Young.

FRENCH CORRAL ITEMS

FRENCH CORRAL, Nov. 16, (Special to The Nugget)—Well, the past week has seemed rather a quiet one. Did we catch you smiling? Well, yes, all our weeks and days are rather quiet ones, when compared with city weeks and days, but oh you do not know of the many pleasures to be found in this quiet country place, that you could never have in your cities. Well, we can say Sunday and Monday were not quiet for the wind storm that prevailed made things hum! Our days are pleasant but nights very chilly. At 6:30 Wednesday a. m., the mercury registered 26° and 28° Thursday a. m.

Armistice Day passed quietly. The floating of flags being the oniy observance. Yet in every heart we are sure the meaning of that great day could be felt. What a commingling of feeling the very words awakened! Let us hope and pray that an armistice may continue in allt he future years.

We cannot feel that French Corral was not strictly "in it", when we read of the Armistice Day Parade in Grass Valley with our aged Civil War veteran E. De Prati riding on horseback, the old cavalry spirit still alive in his heart and one of our bright school boys, Dean McMinn, coming so close to winning the cotest prize! French Corral is glad to claim them.

H. Browning and W. P. Clerkin came down from Pike City Saturday

W. E. Moulton made his usual buisess trip to Marysville Saturday.

G. Morrison of Sweetland was a Sunday visitor.

A Browning got a permit to burn brush and refuse off his ranch. He thought he would make it interesting by giving a demonstration of his fire fighting ability and burn it off at night. Many of the neighbors went out to witness the work. It was indeed a thrilling sight for awhile and splendid work was done. The fire was kept within bounds until the last straw was burned. They did not get through with the work any too soon however, for later os the wind storm came up.

L. Dudley of Nevada City was a Sunday visitor.

N. B. Bishop had business in Nevada City Tuesday.

Mrs. W. E. Moulton and daughter, Frances, Mrs. E. Sutherland, and Mrs. J. W. Culver were visitors in Gass Valley and Nevada City Wednesday.

Clyde, Harry and Bill Browning and Richard Hardenbrook were visitors at the Siberia mine Wednesday evening.

A. Brownisg called a mechanic from Leiter's garage Wednesday, to overhaul his truck which stubbornly decided to remain on the roadside.

Miss Millie Clerkin was a visitor from Pike City Thursday.

W. P. Clerkin came up from Browns Valley Thursday evening. He has recently taken his cattle to a range at that place.

Woods, Wayman and Walsh bro't cattle thru to the foot hills the past week.

Clyde Browning and Richard Hardenbrook made a trip to Nevada City Thursday.

An item in the Tyler correspondence of last week reminded us of the days when North Sas Juan and all the Ridge down from there raised wonderful crops of wonderful potatoes. The days when they had plenty of water on the Ridge. We can safely say that no where in this world could some of the potatoes be excelled.

We recall a crop that was raised by the ate W. E. Ransom of Sebastopol. As a rule, potatoes that are very large and long are apt to be hollow in the center. We cannot recall the name of this particular variety, but they were pink in color and nearly all from 8 to 10 inches long, and out of a whole sack we found but two with a small hollow place in the center. The San Juan Ridge and ranches near seemed just the place for the Burbank to flourish. Will this ever come back? Waiting makes us weary and heartsick.

We will close with congratulations to The Nugget and best wishes for its future success and prosperity.

A FOREST FIRE

By Ruth Noyes

A cigarette, still glowing red,
Lay in a forest's leafy bed,
A little breeze came drifting by,
And a blazing flame soon shot up high,

The wild beast fled from within,
And with it all wild feathered kin;
From den, from nest, in wild flight,
They hastened from the glaring light.

The fire raged from dawn to dawn,
And still another day came on
Before the fire flickered dim
Upon a river's rugged rim.

A million dollars lost, because
Of the demon Fire's destructive claws,
Whose fingers, many forests span,
Urged on by carelessness of man.

REDDING MINERS MEET PROVES INTERESTING

REDDING, Nov. 16, (Special to The Nugget)— The mining meeting be....ing held here today under the joint auspices of the Northern California Mining Association and the Mining Association of California has been one of the finest yet held in behalf of the new state organization which looks to be getting on its feet in great shape. Less than two months old it has already gained a large membership which promises to play a large part in rehabilitating the primary isdustry of California.

Invitations sent out by the Secretary Lew Carrigan brought together mining men from all of Northern California includisg Shasta, Trinity and Siskiyou counties as well as delegations from Sacramento and the lower country. The state association was well represented by many of its directors and officers. The program and arrangement for the meeting were in charge of Assemblyman Roscoe J. Anderson, one of the state association directors.

Reports from the three northern mining counties indicate that the various forms of gold mining, hydraulicking, dredging, quartz and placer have been recovering from their post-war slump in convincing fashion.

President George H. Gronwoldt of the northern association in announcing that the leading feature of the meeting would be a survey of the cosdition and activities of the industry at the present time rather than taking up matters of legislation and taxation struck a happy note in the conduct of the meeting. There has been plenty of time in the meeting for the delegates to rub

The enrolling of members in the state association was productive of a large charter list for the new Northern California chapter and adds materially to the membership of the state wide body.

RADIO FOR SCHOOL

In speaking to the editor recently about pressing high school needs, Mr. Wilson, our high school principal, made the statement that he considered one pressing need at this time to be a high school radio. The plan was made at the beginning of this school year to devote as much time as possible to the vocational guidance of pupils, time to be set aside for both group and individual guidance.

It now seems that K.P.O. and K. F. I.—"The California School of the Air" are putting on a very fine educational program on Monday afternoon of each week. State Supt. Kersey and former State Supt. Will C. Wood have recently given talks along the line of Vocational Guidance. The talk last week was given by Dr. Tully C. Knoles, Pres. College of the Pacific. His subject was: "Education".

The speaker for each Monday afternoon answers the following questions:

1. What is the value to the lives of all of us of this profession, business, or industry? What is its challenge? Its usefulness? What is its scope? How broad a field does it cover? What are some of its ramifications?

2. What opportunities does it present? For men? For women? Are these opportunities increasing or decreasing? Is there room for me? What are the prospects of advancement? How long will it take to get to the top? How about the opportunities in California as compared with the rest of the United States?

3. What rewards does it offer? Money? How much to start with? How much later on? Social position? With whom does this work throw one? What will happen to me culturally? Are the work and contracts such as will keep me mentally awake and aggressive, or will they smother my intellectual growth? Will I have opportunity for true creative achievement? Are there opportunities for service? Will I have the right to feel that my life really counts for something in the happiness and well being of others?

4. What abilities does it demand? How shall I know if I have the qualifications requisite to success?

5. What further training and education do you recommend? How long will it take me adequately to prepare myelf for entrance into this field? How much will it cost? Which is more important—formal schooling or actual working experience?

6. What first attracted you into this work? What holds you in it?

It is tentatively planned to have pupils listen in over convenient home radios each week. If the plan proves feasible, it will be continued throughout the year. This plan will secure for the students many of the values of the program without any appreciable disruption of the regular schedule. It was arranged to have a student listen in at Mr. Wilson's residence, and bring back a report to the student body.

In the following weeks, a student will be selected from each class organization in order that as many as possible may have the experience of hearing a radio program and making a report to the group. In so far as possible the pupils selected will be those having an especial interest in the particular vocation being discussed each week.

Nadine Sutton, a senior student, had the assistance of Lena Ghidotti, an advanced shorthand pupil in taking notes last Tuesday on the Coleman Cox lecture on Salesmanship. No doubt the pupils will receive much benefit from the reports given though it comes to them in a round about manner.

It is hoped that a way can be found to have a high schiol radio in the near future. An endeavor is being made to have a permanent aerial and connections made at this time, with the thought in view that local radio dealers can be secured to connect up their own sets for occasional programs. The above plan may offer a temporary solution of the problem of our school which has no radio equipment.

The following dates are already assigned:

THE MODERN PUPIL

By Harriett Bleakley

I will try to explain
Si that you may all gain
The habits thru sun and rain
Of the model pupil.

He gets up sharp at seven
After dreams of only heaven,
And with books—I'm sure eleven
Off struts the model pupil.

He has a "How-do-you-do"
For teacher, Bill, Beth and Lu;
In fact, there are very few
Politer than the model pupil.

As soon as the school bell rings
He does a noteworthy thing,
Into the basket he flings
The gum of the model pupil.

He sits up straight in his chair,
And seldom pulls the girls' hair
To everyone he's strictly fair.
No one squarer than the model pupil

Down stairs he goes in single file
Not tearing at a minute per mile,
But meeting everyone with a smile
This cheery, model pupil.

In playing at basket ball,
Never complains at another being tall
He just takes what comes, and that's all
A good sport is the model pupil.

His homework is seldom late,
His grades are always first rate
Everyone knows the certain fate
Of the model pupil.

George W. Prescott was a recent visitor in San Francisco.

EXAMINER VISITS

Dr. Paschal, high school examiner from the University of California, spent half a day here Tuesday, November 12th. He visited all the forenoon classes.

He commended favorably to Mr. Wilson on the work of the school. He also mentioned particularly the greatly improved condition of the building and grounds. We are all very glad that we are succeeding so well in the improvement of our school.

AUTUMN

By Barbara McMinn

The time of crops and harvests,
The birds are flying south,
The wind is blowing with zeal and zest,
With fallen leaves around the house

We gather 'round the fire,
And we enjoy it, too;
Listening to the curfew, from the old church spire,
Outside the old owl from a tree hoots, Hoo! Hoo!

The leaves areturning many colors,
From green torainbow hues,
The nightly visits to the cellar,
Give promise of fun in store for you.

Thinking about Thanksgiving coming near,
Gives hope of meeting soon,
Friends and relatives so dear.
We should sing a happy tune.

Mrs. S. Wanamake, has so far recovered from a stroke of paralysis that she is able to be about her home.

J. T. Rutherford of Reno was here last week on business.

COUNTY NURSE VISITS

DESERT AT AUTUMN

By Betty Bettles

When desert buys her autumn frock,
Or dyes her old one yellow,
She hides from us the massive rock
And shows only color mellow.

For ornament she adds some red
And purple, then some gold.
She settles then into her bed
Of white for winter cold.

A purple haze enfolds her peaks
Along with clouds of white.
Her whole demeanor breeds an air
Of majesty and might.

ALUMNI HOME

Lloyd Penrose, Carrol Coughlan, Bernice Eden, Alberta Baker, Katherine McClish, and Erla Davidson former students of the Nevada City High School spent last week end in their "home town". Lloyd Penrose is a student of the School of Fine Arts in San Francisco. Bernice Eden is attending the Southwestern University in Los Angeles. Alberta Baker is a student of University of California and Carrol Coughlan of St. Mary's College. Katherine McClish is a student in the Junior College. Erla Davidson works in San Francisco.

These students were given a warm welcome by their many friends and former schoolmates in this city.

N C H vs. CHRISTIAN CHURCH

The Nevada City High School "A" team scored its third win of the season on Friday, November 8th. The "A" team has not as yet lost a game. The First Christian Church gave N. C. its hardest battle of the three games played. The score was 42-38 in the Purple and Gold's favor.

The B team composed of mostly second string men, because of the illness of most first string men, put up a hard battle against the De Molays of Grass Valley. The N. C. B. team was way out in front at the end of the first half but were miserably tramped on in the second half although the score was only 29-28 in favor of the fraternity boys of Grass Valley. All second string men played well and filled their respective positions to the best of their ability.

The C team of N. C. H. S. after being given a good run in the first game of the season with Washington came back and gave the grade boys a terrible defeat. The score was 30-4.

All games as a whole, were fast, tricky, and amusing to the spectators.

HONOR SOCIETY MEETS

The Honor Society held a meeting on November 14. It was decided that Kathleen Greenaway, president and two other members of the society would attend the District Council Meeting at Roseville, December 17. A financial report was also given showing that the twenty-five dollars of the scholar ship fund had been completed.

Mr. and Mrs. Rollin Riddle are home from a honeymoon spent in Modesto.

REPORT CARDS

Report cards for the second six weeks will be given out Wednesday. Parents are requested to note carefully the grades on the cards that they sign. One more grade will be given this semester, and if a student is found failing or low in his work it is desired that the parents confer with the principal and the teachers in regard to the failing work. A grade, of D. though it is passing, is undesirable, while a grade of F means failure.

TYPING AWARDS

On November 13th, the students of the typing II class took an Underwood typing test. Two of the students, Vivian Cerro and Grace Towle will receive medals for their efficiency in the test. Vivian will be awarded a gold pin for making sixty words with only two errors and Grace, a silver pin for making fifty-two words with five errors.

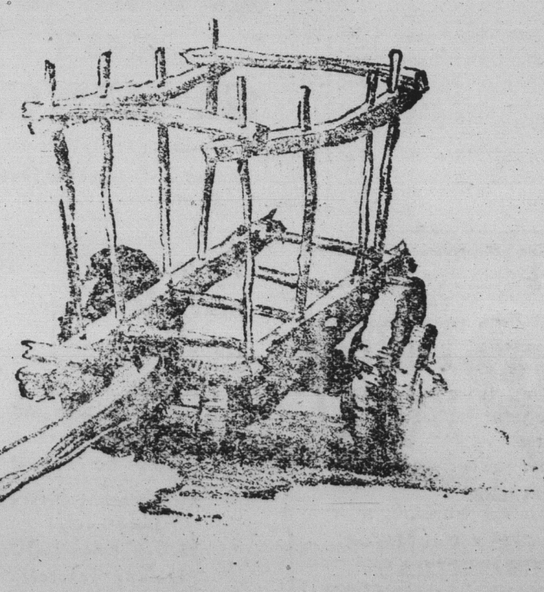
OLD TRAILS...

"Let's talk it over with the Bank of America." In San Diego and Dunsmuir, and in a hundred communities between, men and women turn to this bank as an able and friendly ally.

Not all who avail themselves of the bank's experience are depositors, by any means. The recognition by Californians that this is their bank . . . not merely the bank of our customers . . . is a tribute of which we are very proud.

Those who come to us . . customers and non-customers alike . . . know that the paths of California business are old trails to the Bank of America. They know that banking experience dating from 1860 is here to serve them.

We cordially invite you to join the half million men and women who are our depositors. But regardless of your banking affiliation, we are here to serve you . . to aid in the upbuilding of the community and the State.



Characteristic of California's progress is the ox-cart of pioneer days compared to the motor car of 1930. Ninety years ago slow moving oxen hauled the overland commerce of California to the nearest port. Today, by highway, by rail, by water and air, California products circle the globe.

SECOND TOURNAMENT DRAWING NEAR END

The second bowling tournament in the Elks league is drawing near its end.. Due to the return of Chief Walling for the week, The Nugget is able to present a complete summary of the week's play. The games Monday night failed to materialize owing to the holiday. The Ghidottis took fiur points from the Mobleys Wednesday night, the Carrs gave the Bigelows the same dose Thursday night.

There was but little spectacular work for the week, 455 pins by Hogan being high mark with the rest strung out in a long line behind. Southpaw Leiter trotted in second place with some pretty work from the port side and easily lead the field in the strike department with ten of the perfect hitters. Rollin Wright is coming up fast in his play and looks to be getting into shape to trim some if the top notchers before the winter's play is over. He hit for a 137 average the past week and landed in third place. Mobley's average was far below average for some reason. Richards, Nickless and Kopp tied up things with total pins although Nickless' work stood iut a little better in the strikes and spares. He and Richards tied with high honors for the week with 13 squares each.

The scores for the week follow:

Doubles — Leiter 2, Bettles 2, Nickless, Higan.

STANDING OF TEAMS

Native Sons	4	2	.666
Odd Fellows	3	3	.500
Court Garfield	3	3	.500
Corte Colombo	2	4	.333

The second week's play in the local indoor horseshoe pitching tournament ended with the Native Sons on the top perch and last year's champions temporarily looking up from the bottom rung of the ladder.

Last Tuesday the Natives, aided somewhat by the goddess of luck, nailed two of the three games with the fast-traveling Odd Fellows and Wednesday evening Court Garfield trampled on a weakened Corte Christoforo Colombo team to the tune of two games to ne.

This week the Natives will invade Fresters Hall on Monday evening while Colombo will be the visitors of the Odd Fellows on Tuesday evening.

Captain Herb. Hallett of the Natives apparently has a better brand of hoof oil this year for limbering up the Natives' pitching equipment and he is beaming this week over having spilled the Odd Fellows last week. Court Garfield by taking Corte Colombo into camp last week relieved the ground they lost to the Odd Fellows in the first series and the Natives and Garfield should put up a good menu Monday.

Colombo will make an effort to have its full strength on deck Tuesday evening ti prevent the I. O. O. F. crew from boarding and scuttling heir ship. The Odd Fellows have been going great guns in practice and competition this year and have full anticipation of sitting with their feet under the table this year with someone else carving the chicken, cleaning the cutlery and dousing the dishes at the final banquet. Colombo will be out to regain their prestige of last year which has been somewhat lowered by their unlucky start.

The schedule this year is of twelve week's duration and the early wins ciunt much more than they did last year, and it is doubtful if any team in as low standing at half time as the Natives were last year could duplicate their feat of climbing steadily from low in the second division to within one game of the leaders at the finish. Each of the captains is keeping close track on his players in an endeavor to maintain his team's strength as high as possible.

Howard Andrews, a former resident, was a recent arrival from Detroit. He left for Sacramento with his sister, Mrs. Phoebe Hathaway nd they will enter business there.
